

I browsed a work [1] where continuous flash suppression was used to show people implicitly arithmetic operations. During the test, they were then asked to read random numbers, and the solution was read differently, similar to chickens.

[1] Sklar, Reading and doing arithmetic nonconsciously, 2012. <https://doi.org/10.1073/pnas.1211645109>.